Hayato : Sure. I live in . The population of the city is the smallest, and it is a very quiet city. Sometimes, people enjoy reading books on the bench along the street. I like this city because .

Ayaka : That sounds great. The website tells us that many people who are over sixty years old live in your city. Is that because the city is not so crowded?

Hayato : . It's very helpful for elderly people when they want to go somewhere. How about your city, Rumi?

Rumi : My city has a large university, and students live around the university with their friends or by themselves.

Ayaka : is popular among not only young people, but also people over sixty, too. Why do they live there?

Rumi : . After the university was built thirty years ago, young people began to live there.

Hayato : Is the life there comfortable for both young and elderly people?

Rumi : Yes, it is. Most of the elderly people have their own shops, cafes, and restaurants. University students help those stores by working part-time, and get social experience. This experience is helpful for them when they choose their jobs after they graduate.

Ayaka : That's so great. (4) They are helping each other.

Rumi : Now, let's see the population of . You live in this city, right?

Ayaka : Yes, I do. I moved there from Momiji 10 years ago.

It is larger than Hanabi and Snow, and more people live there. .

Hayato : It's a very convenient city for people who work and raise their children.

Ayaka : Exactly.

Rumi : But Momiji is a big city, and has the largest population of the four cities. A new shopping mall was built last year. More people have been moving there from other cities.

Ayaka : I know, so I want to live in Momiji again.
